WITH THE WASHINGTON CHURCHES

EPISCOPAL.

Much interest is being manifested by Sunday school teachers and the clergy in the forthcoming visit to Washington of Rev. Stewart U. Mitman, field secretary of the board of religious education of the Province of Washington. Dr. Mitman will conduct a teacher training course in the parish hall of Epiphany Church, 1315 G street northwest, on February 14, 16, 18, 21, 23 and 25 at 4:45 o'clock.

The class is open without charge to all interested persons, both men and women, whether Sunday school teachers or not. Each member of the class who attends all the sessions and completes the work will receive a certificate from the general board which will count toward a general board's diploma as a licensed church teacher. This class is held under the auspices of the board of religious education of the diocese of Washington, offers a rare opportunity to teachers and to the clergy.

While in Washington Dr. Mitman will visit a number of the churches and parochial teachers' meetings.

The Sunday School Institute of the Diocese of Washington will hold its regular meeting in St. Margaret's Parish Hall, Columbia road and Bancroft place northwest, Tuesday evening, February 15, at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Stewart U. Mitman, Ph. D., field secretary of the board of religious education of the Province of Washington, will deliver the opening address on "The Child's World." The meeting will be followed at 8:30 by separate conferences for teachers of adult, junior, and primary classes. The recently appointed diocesan superintendent for these four departments of the Sunday school, who will preside at these conferences are: Adult, Mrs. L. H. Roome; junior, Miss Ada B. Voute; junior, Mrs. Judith L. Johnson; primary, Mrs. W. T. Hastings. At the adult conference Dr. Mitman will speak on the topic, "The Aim of the Adult Class," at the senior conference Canon W. L. De Vries, Ph. D., will speak on "The Child's World and Needs," at the junior conference Dr. Mitman will be open discussion of junior class problems, and at the primary conference Miss Emma Abbott will speak on "A Method of Training Primary Teachers."

The new Chapel of the Transfiguration, a mission of Rock Creek Parish, located on Gallatin street, between Potomac and Piney Branch parks, will be opened tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock with elaborate services.

The services, consisting of morning prayer and sermon, will be held at 11 o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. Charles E. Buck, rector of St. Paul's, Rock Creek, assisted by Rev. Horace Wood, minister in charge, and Rev. William L. De Vries, Ph. D., of the Washington Cathedral, who will preach the sermon.

A special program of music has been prepared for the occasion. The choir of the Transfiguration will sing "The Hallelujah Chorus" from the oratorio "The Messiah," which will be rendered by the Transfiguration choir. The service will be held at 11 o'clock.

At the evening service, at 8 o'clock, the rector, Dr. Buck, will preach the sermon and the music will be furnished by the Transfiguration quartet. The new chapel, which was finally completed and furnished this week, is a beautiful and artistic structure, designed along the lines of a combination of Romanesque and Gothic architecture. The walls are of solid oak and the roof of slate. The interior is finished in solid oak and chestnut, richly colored and carved. The architect was Arthur M. Butt, a member of the Transfiguration choir, and the contractor, Frank L. Wagner, of this city.

The mission of the Transfiguration was organized in 1912, through the devoted efforts of a committee of women of the Episcopal Church residing in Piney Branch Park. Services were held for more than a year, on Sunday afternoons, in the residence of Mrs. Eugene E. Thompson, 1314 Delaford place. Since June, 1914, the services have been held in the chapel hall, erected by the Vestry of Rock Creek Parish.

In January, 1915, Rev. Horace Wood, of La Plata, Md., was called by the vestry to become minister in charge of the mission of the Transfiguration. On the evening of Tuesday, January 19, 1915, the new church was dedicated, and on May 18 Rev. Alfred Harding, Bishop of Washington, laid the corner stone.

Rev. George Merrill, of Stockbridge, Mass., will preach tomorrow at 11 o'clock at St. John's Church, Sixteenth and H streets.

Public service will be held tomorrow evening at St. Mark's Church, when all members of the church's guilds and organizations will attend in a body. Rev. Roland Smith, rector of St. John's Church, Lafayette square, will preside. Rev. C. R. Stetson is rector of St. Mark's.

The Sunday school of the Church of the Advent, Episcopal, has undergone changes in the past year which are said to augur well for the future success of the Sunday school and for the strengthening of the Church.

Both Canon De Vries and the bishop of Washington spoke in glowing terms on the occasion of visits to Advent Parish of the progress that has been made in the building up of the Sunday school.

The bishop remarked that the Advent Sunday school had grown to be one of the finest and largest in the whole diocese of Washington. In the place of the old-style lesson leaflets, the officers of the school have secured a series of lessons, in the form of cloth bound books, in which are valuable enough for the pupil to feel the necessity of keeping them. In this series is covered a systematic study of the life of Christ, the story of the church, the books are graded to suit the needs of children of different ages and the classes in the Sunday school are up in regular order, and the pupils will be promoted from one grade to the next as they cover the subjects taken up in the book they are studying.

The Sunday school, which has been developed with similar success. The boys have basketball, and the Phi Mu Sigma basketball team, which has been playing at the school for nearly every Sunday, has played all of its scheduled games in the Advent Parish Hall this season. Indoor tennis in the Parish Hall is enjoyed by the young ladies especially. These work indoors and need the benefit of the exercise afforded by this splendid sport.

A class which has come into existence since last year, and which promises to become the largest in the entire diocese, is the young men's class conducted by Robt. M. Ryce. This class and the class of Capt. Faris have formed a chapter in the Phi Mu Sigma Fraternity, known as Phi Chapter and the Phi Mu Sigma team is leading the Phi Mu Sigma League.

A letter written by Mrs. Robert E. Speer, president national board of the Y. W. C. A., will be read.

Three more ice skating rinks are announced for the Broadway section and two new skate roads have opened. The town seems to be skating mad. Maurice, the Castles, and Bonnie Glass are secretly learning the skating art and experts are in demand in the vaudeville house.

Meffing.

In a letter sent to all the pastors of the archdiocese, the bishop ordered a collection to be taken in all the Catholic churches tomorrow for the benefit of those in Poland, who are suffering from the effects of the war, and it is expected that the response to this plea will equal that made some time ago for the sufferers in Europe generally.

RECOLLECTIONS OF LINCOLN

By ANDREW J. WHITAKER, Of This City.

Some months ago it was my privilege to visit the place of my birth and my childhood—the town of Toulon, Stark Co., Illinois. It was on a day when the old settlers of the county were having their annual meet on the public square and it was an occasion of thrill for me from morning until night, as I met friends, classmates, and scholars from the two country schools I had taught in the winters of 1864-5 in remote sections of the county.

Except for the shade trees, a well-kept lawn and a substantial fence around the public square, it was the same spot where on October 26, 1858, Abraham Lincoln stepped to a platform built just west of the courthouse and delivered one of his masterly speeches to a vast throng of 10,000 enthusiastic listeners.

The day was cool and the sky cloudy, but the excitement and the interest exhibited by the vast multitude, as I remember, were wonderful to witness and were indescribable. His coming had been extensively advertised and all were anxious to see and hear the man who had battled with Senator Douglas in the debates which had become notorious throughout the State and country in the canvass for the position of United States Senator.

Railroads Unknown. Railroads were unknown in our country at the time and it was necessary to provide for his transportation from the nearest railroad station, Keokuk. The pleasant duty devolved upon his old friend, the late Gen. Thomas J. Henderson, who had been selected as chairman of the committee on foot, accompanied by his mother, who was seated in the low square that had formed on the prairie about two miles north of town, the shouts from the throats of the thousands present on horseback. In response to the cheering, the speaker, who was a slight and slender man, with the music of numerous brass bands, it was a sight to witness and never to be forgotten. The noise and din caused the speaker to clutch nervously at the open carriage in which were seated Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Henderson to rear and plunge, but the lines were in good hands and all went along smoothly.

My mother was delegated to take a wreath of flowers around the neck of Mr. Lincoln, which she did just before the procession started for town, but he rather objected to be thus adorned and asked Mr. Henderson (so he informed me) if he thought it would be proper to remove it before he arrived in town. The answer was in the negative.

It was after dinner that the speaking commenced, and the incident I am about to relate took place just prior.

"Mr. Lincoln," said Mr. Henderson, "would you like to have me make a few remarks in introducing you to this vast audience this afternoon?"

"Well, now, Tom," said Mr. Lincoln, "if you have prepared a nice little speech, and want to fire it off, you are it off, but I would a great deal rather have the time."

Cent Out the Frills. He had so much to say to the audience on the important topics of the day, and as he must move on to meet the next engagement immediately at the close of his address, he cut out the frills and proceeded to business at once.

Senator Douglas, who spoke from the same platform on the following day, was unfortunate in having a rainy day, and Colored Meetings Win Converts. The revival among the colored people which is being held in Cosmopolitan Baptist church on street is said to have resulted in the conversion of more than 500 persons. The meetings, which are conducted under the auspices of the National Colored Evangelical Ministers' Alliance, will continue until March 5.

Rev. Dr. Simon P. W. Drew, sometimes called the Billy Sunday of his race, is doing the preaching and is assisted by several singing evangelists.
